DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This Office action is responsive to the amendment filed February 11, 2009. Claims 4 and 28-32 are cancelled. Claims 5-7 are withdrawn as non-elected. Claim 8 was amended. Claim 8 is currently under consideration. Claims 1-3 and 9-27 are allowed. See previous Office action for reasons for allowance.
2. The amendment to the specification filed February 11, 2009 is acknowledged.
3. The drawing (Figure 6) filed February 11, 2009 is objected to because portions of the drawing are handwritten and portions have very small print rendering the drawings unclear. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

4. The rejection of claim 8 under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Lamansky et al. (US 2004/0062947 A1) is withdrawn in response to applicant's arguments.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Miyazawa et al. (US 2003/0127974 A1) in view of Aizawa et al. (US 2003/0127656 A1).

Miyazawa et al. teaches organic electroluminescent devices comprising host materials such as CBP, DCTA and TCPB (see par. 206-207, page 20):

The luminous layer may be formed of the above host materials and fluorescent pigment and luminescent substances (see par. 207 and par. 198-204). Miyazawa et al. does not expressly teach the fluorescent pigment may be a carbazole-containing luminescent compound. Aizawa et al. teaches, in analogous art, BCzVBi as a luminescent material for use in a blue light emitting layer (see par. 81):

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have formed a device according to Miyazawa et al. having a host such as CBP, DCTA, or TCPB and to have selected a luminescent substance such as BCzVBi as the luminescent material and to have expected to achieve a well-functioning device with a predictable result, because Miyazawa et al. teaches the formation of a light emitting layer comprising CBP, DCTA or TCPB together with further light emitting substances to form a light emitting layer for a light emitting device.

The following is further noted:

Where a claimed improvement on a device or apparatus is no more than "the simple substitution of one known element for another or the mere application of a known technique to a piece of prior art ready for improvement," the claim is unpatentable under 35 U.S.C. 103(a). Ex Parte Smith, 83 USPQ.2d 1509, 1518-19 (BPAI, 2007) (citing KSR v. Teleflex, 127 S.Ct. 1727, 1740, 82 USPQ2d 1385, 1396 (2007)). Applicant claims a combination that only unites old elements with no change in the respective functions of those old elements, and the combination of those elements yields predictable results; absent evidence that the modifications necessary to effect the combination of elements is uniquely challenging or difficult for one of ordinary skill in the art, the claim is unpatentable as obvious under 35 U.S.C. 103(a). Ex Parte Smith, 83 USPQ.2d at 1518-19 (BPAI, 2007) (citing KSR, 127 S.Ct. at 1740, 82 USPQ2d at 1396).

Accordingly, since the applicant has submitted no persuasive evidence that the combination of the above elements is uniquely challenging or difficult for one of ordinary skill in the art, the claim is unpatentable as obvious under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) because it is no more than the predictable use of prior art elements according to their established functions resulting in the simple substitution of one known element for another or the mere application of a known technique to a piece of prior art ready for improvement.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
